Because a well bred and beautiful girl objected to her father marrying as his second wife, a Parisian adventuress, she paid dearly. The gentle old Count Handry was overruled, married the woman, and in the end lost his fortune. That was not all, for the adventuress so demeaned herself, with others of her kind, that the foolish old man nearly made matters worse by taking his own life. Meanwhile his daughter, driven to desperation by the domination of the sinful wife, had left home and came close to being wrecked on the rocks of adversity. How all things were set right, even to the visitation of retribution upon the iniquitous woman, will be made clear at the Orpheus on Sunday and Monday nights, when "The Evil Women Do" will be displayed in Bluebird Photoplays with Elsie Jane Wilson playing the adventures; Francisca Billington the grievously distressed heroine, and Rupert Julian impersonating the foolish old man who was overcome by a woman's wiles. Hobart Henley, lately prominent in the "Graft" serial shown in photoplays; Sydney Dean, Douglas Gerrard, Tom Lockhart and C. N. Hammond will be in the supporting company.

George Cameron, who was Mrs. Sidney Drew, lay on her deathbed. Her constant companion and solace was a well worn copy of the Bible. Realizing that the veil of death would soon be drawn before her vision, her interest in spiritual things comforted her dying moments. In her reading she came upon the story of David, Uriah and his wife Bath-Sheba. It told how David coveted the wife of Uriah and sent him into the most dangerous part of the battle, that he might perish. David then married Bath-Sheba and the Lord struck him dead for breaking the covenants. Mrs. Drew was inspired by the story and filled for a secretary and dictated the remarkable story of "Thou Art the Man." She died without knowing whether or not the film would be produced. When the Vitagraph company read the script, it seemed altogether fitting that her loving son should create the principle role and produce the film. In the working out of this photoplay, a desire that was more than a profession of financial interest in turning out a good work was experienced by Drew. His devotion to his mother is seen by the thorough working out of this film, and he has made it a worthy monument to the memory of his mother. At the Star tonight.

Next Week is Edison Week

Do you know that over 600,000 people are now employed in industries founded by Thomas A. Edison?

Next week is being observed by many of these industries in recognition of Mr. Edison's scientific achievements.

We observe the week by giving an Edison record every day at our store and also by making it possible for a certain number of people in this community to compete in the

$1,000 Prize Contest

FOR THE BEST DESCRIPTION OF THE ENJOYMENT AND MUSICAL EDUCATION DERIVED IN THE HOME FROM MR. EDISON'S FAVORITE AND PROBABLY GREATEST INVENTION

The NEW EDISON

We have set aside a limited number of these wonderful new instruments. They have been specially tested and will be placed in homes in this city on an absolutely free three days trial during Edison Week.

Those who secure the benefit of these Edison Week free trials will be eligible to the big $1,000 contest for the best opinion of the value of the New Edison in the home.

These opinions must not be over 300 words in length. Their literary quality does not count. Professional writers and all members of the phonograph trade are barred.

What the Edison company wants are the real heartfelt opinions of the people after they have heard this wonderful instrument in their own homes.

The first prize is $500. Second, $200. Third, $100.

Then there are consolation prizes aggregating $200. In addition, the Edison company will pay ten cents per word for opinions which, although not winning prizes, are considered suitable for publication.

See Us Before Monday Noon

about the prize contest and our free trial offer. Edison owners are eligible. Come to us for entry blank.
